

Call for Abstracts

The Transnational Working Group for the Study of Gender and Sport invites scholars from the field of gender research in sport to the annual meeting in Vienna, Austria. Founded in 2005, the group aims for a transnational and interdisciplinary exchange of researchers who have a major interest in the study of sport and gender. This year the meeting will take place at the University of Vienna, Centre for Sport Science and University Sport in Austria.

Looking back on a long tradition of theoretical and empirical studies of sexism and gender discrimination, gender equity and gender construction in sport, we invite researchers from different countries and scientific communities to discuss past, present and future perspectives, challenges and opportunities in the field of gender research in sport and sport studies.

At the 10th Meeting in Vienna, we would like to focus on specific perspectives and topics. In addition, we would like to offer space to present papers on other topics, e.g. on results from their current studies and projects.

Socio-cultural perspectives of gender and sport, e.g.

- Gender constructions in urban sport cultures
- Intersectional analysis
- Transgender and intersex athletes in sport
- Migration and gender relations in sport (female refugees, ...)
- Meanings and impact of gender in disability sport

Political perspectives of gender and sport, e.g.

- Impact of sport development programs on gender equity in sport
- Gender mainstreaming in sport organisations

Topics of your current studies and projects

Since the Transnational Working Group for the Study of Gender and Sport is devoted to the mentoring of young scholars, we encourage early stage researchers to present their projects.

Please submit your abstract (see further instructions in the abstract format and abstract model) on the conference webpage

The deadline for submission is June 30th, 2017.
